 Roughly translated: - It's my move, isn't it?

Combatants in Division 4 may like to note that the result of match 4-49, Kingstanding 4½ v Birmingham 1½, is neither published in detail nor included in the above table, as Birmingham are disputing the Kingstanding board order. The delightful irony (for those not directly concerned) is that the two Kingstanding players involved are both members of the Rules Committee - which is to say that your Editor is one of them.

AT THE CUTTING EDGE OR WHAT

As those of you receiving these Bulletins by e-mail will already know, I used to work out the League Tables rather laboriously in longhand. However, from this issue they are being calculated automatically from a list of results recorded on a linked spreadsheet. There is one certain problem with the sheet, which is that a score of 5 to ½ would be counted as an away win, presumably because the ASCII value of ½ is greater than that of 5. However 5½ - ½ counts as a home win, and scores with an odd half point only occur in the cup competitions (don't they?). Anyway, please take a little more interest than usual in your positions in the tables just in case I've missed anything.
